Solingen's network of integration course providers

The Integrationskurs (integration course)

You are living in Germany now and therefore you should learn German, too. You have to master German in order to get to know new people, to get along in every day life and to find a job. Language is the key to success for integration. Each Integrationskurs (integration course) consists of a language course and an orientation course. The integration course takes 660 hours in total.

Topics and structure of lessons

The integration course starts with the language course, which will take 600 hours in total. The language course deals with important aspects of everyday life like work, childcare and education and shopping. Topics may vary, depending on the specific language course provider. At the end of the language course you will have to pass a final exam. This exam is called Deutschtest für Zuwanderer.

The language course is followed by the Orientierungskurs (orientation course), which will take 60 hours in total. In the orientation course you will discuss the German legal system, German history and culture, rights and duties of citizens and the values and principles, that are very important to our society, like freedom of worship, tolerance and equality. At the end of the orientation course you will have to pass a final exam again. This exam is called Leben in Deutschland.

Who can attend an integration course?

Whether or not a migrant is entitled to attend an integration course is decided by the Ausländerbehörde respectively the Bundesamt für Migration und Flüchtlinge. An own contribution of 1,55€ per lesson has to be paid by the student. If you receive social benefits, a cost exemption can be granted to you. Customers of the Jobcenter can apply for a cost bearing of the teaching material, too.
